What kind of questions can you expect?

- Commands
 - Be prepared to read over a command issued and determine what result that command will provide, including an error if there is something wrong with it.
- Comparative
 - Two potential commands may be given, and you may be asked to identify the difference(s), contrast the output, or indicate if they will produce the same output.
- Scenario
 - A short scenario will be proposed (one or two sentences). You will be asked to indicate which command in the list would give the desired result.
- Definitions
 - You may see questions that ask for the most appropriate definition or term within the context of its use in Docker.

Memorization of key commands, options, and configuration file locations is key!
